DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Cars owned by E. H. Keach and Company, with chauffeur Frank A. driver and by Ernest Danielson, were in collision early Monday morning near the intersection of Main and Market streets. The Keach car, which is a light truck, and the Danielson machine both were considerably battered in the smash. Mr. Danielson was somewhat, though not seriously injured, while Mr. Keach escaped without being hurt. It was raining heavily at the time the accident happened.

Little outward interest was manifested Monday in the fact that this (Tuesday) evening brings the annual borough caucus at which candidates for borough office for another year will be named. Few will deny that the duty of naming the officials is a very important one, from a civic viewpoint, or that any objection really rests upon each line to attend and participate if it is possible to do so.

Across the border in Rhode Island, along the line of the Providence-Danvers road, a new building is being built as a federal highway one of the jobs that must be tackled before getting into the full swing of spring work will be clearing the highway of the debris being dumped out onto the unfinished road bed by recent heavy rain storms. These heavy rains cut down the embankments bordering the highway, and the debris being dumped out onto the unfinished road bed by recent heavy rain storms. At Little Rock this year, connecting up with the Connecticut work being done in the town of Killingly and giving a splendid new highway straight through to Providence, probably by October 30.

Mrs. Marie Barbeau, 70, is dead at her home here. Mrs. Barbeau, nee of Canada, was the widow of Toussaint Barbeau, who died several years ago. Mrs. Barbeau in point of residence was one of the French-speaking residents of Danielson. A daughter, Miss Hattie Barbeau, has made her home with Mrs. Barbeau. Other children are Toussaint, Charles and Ernest and a daughter, Mrs. Phil Benoit of Pawtucket.

A dog that figured in a rear end collision with a trolley car in Water street proved a splendid example for some human beings who are inclined to yelp when they are a bit hurt, or think they are. This particular dog took his bump with amazing composure. While a score or more who gathered to watch his collapse looked on he got up and walked away—no having uttered one word from the time he was hit through the rear end collision. It is to be recalled that in one famous instance this particular trolley car did not chase him up an alley to get a shot at him; he collected every last dollar due the track and collected it on his own account.

Tax collector John M. Bassett, of the town of Brooklyn, has been engaged the past few days in getting the money due the town under the assessment of the town of Brooklyn. Heavy rain that many asserted was the "time storm" deluged Danielson and all the surrounding territory on Monday. Rivers through Danielson were running high again Monday afternoon, but not as high as they were on the day of last week. With spring arriving early this (Tuesday) morning the public at large awaits some real mild weather, such as March has not yet seen.

At St. James' church this week there is to be a three day retreat for the French-speaking women of the parish. This series of services will be a special feature in the Lenten period during which attendance at all of the services has been unusually large.

The coming annual borough meeting will be called upon to consider a plan under which the present horse-drawn ladder truck of the fire department will be replaced by a motorized one. It has been suggested that a certain old model of a motorized ladder truck be purchased, which may be used under the brand of the ladder truck, from which the forward wheels could be removed. It is believed that the change can be made at an expense of about $200, the interest on which would be only slightly more than the present annual cost for horse hire sustained in moving the ladder truck.

Meop has added a new piece of motorized apparatus to its fire department and the new little machine has been inspected with interest by a large number of the town's residents. The new machine features and is capable of rendering excellent service in the field where it is to be used.

Game Warden Harry E. Bailey, of East Killingly, has been in the headquarters in the town of Woodstock where he has been living for several months while operating through the wide stretch of territory along the Massachusetts and Rhode Island borders. During the past week he caused the arrest and prosecution of one Massachusetts man who had been engaged in trapping in the town of Thompson.

While Mrs. Stephen M. Major, of Furnace street, was alighting from a truck, while near the Quinsburg store, she slipped and fell, fracturing her leg. Mrs. Major was removed to her home. She was reported Monday as resting quite comfortably. After the accident, which will run through the present week, it is expected that Killingly High School's basketball team will begin its activities to round into form for the games to be played during April and May and the early part of June.

The Y. D. club has a meeting scheduled for this evening at the rooms of the American Legion. The club is made up of men who served overseas with the 26th or Yankee Division, originally made up almost entirely of New England soldiers.

The past few days have brought recovery from illness to the majority of the students attending school here during the past week. Few of the cases were of a serious nature, though some of the students found their experience very unpleasant.

Mr. Abby Hopkins, who has been ill at her home in Meop and out duty for a month, is again with the operating staff of the central office of the S. N. E. T. company.

Fire endangered St. John Baptist hall in West Wausau, Sunday morning, but the blaze was subdued through the activity of a bucket brigade. The congregation attending mass in the Sacred Heart church nearby was startled when a man rushed in to announce the fire, many believing that the church was burning. A number of women in the congregation were said to have been badly frightened.

PUTNAM

Mark Friesell, an old trapper who lives over the border in Massachusetts, has been rounded up while engaged in trapping. He was presented before Justice Thomas Ryan of the town of Thompson.

Warden Bailey has been engaged for a long time in an effort to present Friesell in court in answer to a charge of violating the fish and game laws. Friesell paid the fine and costs assessed against him. He was presented before Justice Thomas Ryan of the town of Thompson.

This corner of northeastern Connecticut will be especially interested in the scheduled to take place in Boston and which will be the culmination of one of those unusual romances which from time to time give color to some phases of American life and which attract unusual publicity and attention.

This particular wedding is set for next Sunday, March 26, when Miss Estelle Walton, 43, a sister of David H. Walton, head of Walton Lunch company of Boston, and Alexander G. Romanosque, a former Putnam resident, are to be wed. This section becomes more so ordinarily interested in the match because the bride's mother is a resident of the neighboring village of North Grosvenordale, where he formerly lived and worked.

According to "Alex," as he is known to Harvard students who patronize his dining room at Oxford hall in Cambridge, he fell in love with Miss Walton the first time he saw her in a residence while he was collecting dishes in the Walton dining room in Cambridge, near town.

With this idea in mind he gave up his job and enrolled as a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, where he was to give attention to the study of the violin. He has explained that his father and grandfather were noted violinists in Romania, where he was born 26 years ago. His grandmother, an Austrian princess, gave up her title and estate to marry a poor, talented court violinist, Romanosque says. He has always liked music and hopes to develop his talents in that direction.

Intentions of the couple to marry, as filed at the Boston city hall, first called attention to the romance. Romanosque is said to have been recent about his plans to marry, but finally admitted that the wedding would soon take place.

The couple first met three years ago and are said to have become engaged last August. Miss Walton's brother, resident of the corporation that operates the chain of lunch rooms, was at first opposed to the match, but it is claimed now that his objection has been withdrawn.

Romanosque says that it makes no difference to him because his bride-to-be is a number of years his senior. Romanosque lives at 79 Oxford street, Cambridge, while Miss Walton lives at the Franklin Square house, in the south end of Boston.

Romanosque has been a periodical visitor in North Grosvenordale during the time he has been employed in Boston.

March 21st is the date for the appearance here of Jesse S. Hanson, champion checker player of the Pacific coast. Negotiations for his coming to the town of Putnam have been under way for some time, and it was announced Monday by an official of the Putnam Checker and Chess club that Mr. Hanson has agreed to appear here.

His coming will be of interest to checker players of Putnam and surrounding towns. While the details of the contest have not yet been worked out, it is believed that he will engage a number of players simultaneously. Hanson played during April and May and the early part of June.

Steam and compressed air drills are being employed in preparing for blasts at the ledge east of J. W. Gallup's farm on the highway leading to South Killingly. As yet the stone crushed has not resumed operations.

Many automobiles have been out of service since late fall will be on the road again after the first of the coming month. Numerous registrations are now being made from this territory. Notwithstanding all of the notices and warnings, Personal Tax collector George A. Williams is still waiting to receive the registration fees from the owners on his list to meet the annual assessment.

Nearly a dozen members of the Putnam Country club improved Sunday's afternoon by playing golf on the course. The members of the club are said to have been very much disappointed over their failure to put in their stroke so that they, too, might have enjoyed a round. While the play of Sunday was not as good as it has been in the past, it is to be assumed that the links are in prime condition at this time, though those who played derived much pleasure from the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gallant of this city were passengers on a Boston-bound train Sunday when the locomotive that was hauling it left the rails near North Grosvenordale, where it was being used for the purpose of hauling lumber. The train was derailed and the locomotive and several of the cars were damaged.

An increasing number of looms in operation mark the improvement of conditions at the mill of the Putnam Paper Textile company at Mechanicville, where some of the finest worsteds produced in New England are manufactured.

Victor Poliquin and his two nephews are expected to return today (Tuesday) from Canada, having gone their last week with the local police. The body was taken to St. Rochelle for burial.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

During the past week the building activities in Norwich have increased to a marked degree. While only one building permit was granted at the office of the Building Department, there has been much work done on the projects now in hand. The greatest progress has been made in the addition of the Schwartz Bros. building for the new Austin block, on Main street. The addition has been rushed along and the brick work has been raised above the street level on Church street. Two floors have been laid, the ground floor and the second floor from the Main street level.

H. F. and A. J. Dawley have filed a petition with the Probate Court for the appointment of a receiver for the property of the New York State Building Corporation, which is now in the hands of the receiver. The receiver is now in the hands of the receiver. The receiver is now in the hands of the receiver.
